You will get a lot of email from many different sources - the principal, your child's teacher, your room parent, the PTA, extra-curricular groups, etc.

The best way to make sure everyone has all the information they need is to set up a joint email address that forwards to all your child's parents/guardians, and then enter that joint email address for Parent #1 on every form. That way even if only Parent #1 is emailed, everyone will still get the information.

A Gmail account with forwarding is a great way to do this.

You can use the joint email at doctor's offices and outside of school activities too! This keeps everyone informed and saves Parent #1 from having to be the sole information gatekeeper.
